About 50 runners competed in the High Mountain 10-kilometer run at Multnomah Ski Bowl Saturday. Race results weren't available, but festival coordinator Betty Dodd said she was "extremely pleased" with how things went.

Girls soccer under way

It was a number of the girls on this team who pushed, within the system, for a girls team. All the other schools in the new Mt. Hood Conference play soccer also.

"I feel we're going to be a lot more competitive than people expect," Karsten said, admitting people snicker when they hear it's the first year for the program.

Volleyball meeting set by recreation department

This season's volleyball league meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. at the Sandy Community Center, 38348 Pioneer Boulevard.

In the past two coed leagues have been con-

Karsten coached girls soccer at Parkrose before taking a job at SUHS. He's starting his fourth year here.

Late afternoon aerobics set

With a "unique" time slot, Leslie Cornish of Sandy is hoping she'll be able to entice people to participate in her E.T.3. week-day aerobic workouts.

For more information please call Bill Knight-Weiler, 668-5569.

He's also helped Lon Welsh with the boys team. "Right now I think it's important to develop team camaraderie. I think it's really important to look forward to seeing the people on your team at school in the morning," he said.

The class, which encompasses body conditioning and relaxation as well as aerobic workouts, will be held five days a week at the Sandy Grade School gym from 4:15 to 5:30 p.m. Cornish is hoping people will join the class as an after-work activity before going home. She thinks the time period would be especially appropriate for teachers and high school students. A $20 fee is charged for 25 classes over a four-week period.

She is also teaching a pre- and postnatal fitness class, which is approved by the Prepared Childbirth Association. Approval from a doctor is needed and preregistration is required. Call 245-3196 for more information. A fee of $36 will be charged for 16 classes.

"a great game." He expects Reynolds and Centennial to have the toughest teams in the league, with Columbia, Barlow and Gresham also being competitive.

Karsten said he's seen a lot of improvement in a short amount of time. "We could even make the playoffs if we continue to improve," he said. The top four teams in the league make the district playoffs.
