

Focus on Firwood School

Christine Hoskin, Julie Ulmen, the nurse, and Stacey Smith, the bird, act out a play written by Smith about the hazards of going out without telling one's parents. Smith is the daughter of Sandy and Ben Smith. Ulmen is the daughter of Vicki and Don Ulmen, and Hoskin is the daughter of Jack Hoskin and Glenda Hoskin. All are fifth graders at Firwood School.

PTC fund raiser set

Students at Firwood School will be selling Light Images this week, according to Patti Tobias, chairman of the Firwood Parent-Teacher Club's fund raiser.

Light Images are acrylic ornaments with the look of crystal. A variety of etched images are available.

There will be no door-to-door sales. Sales will be made only through family or friends.

Students will take home a sample, and the parents may either buy it or return it.

Prices start at $4. Light Images reportedly make good Christmas ornaments, or may be hung in front of a window or glass door.

All students selling a minimum of $10 worth will receive a prize. Prizes vary according to the amount of sales made.

The top prize will be an Atari home computer. An AM-FM radio is the second prize, and a monkey puppet will be awarded to the third-best salesman.

The kickoff date was Oct. 6. Students may make sales through Oct. 13.

The PTC would like to earn enough money to buy a copying machine, which would benefit the students, Tobias pointed out.

Other proceeds from PTC fund raisers have gone toward a computer, which all students have had an opportunity to use. Also, playground equipment and art room supplies have in part been paid for with PTC funds. Also, guest speakers for assemblies have been sponsored by the Club.

The hometown advantage. That statement means a lot to us at Clackamas County Bank. It means we take pride in the community, and invest your dollars right here in your hometown.

We don't pour your savings out of state. Our loan decisions are made with local priorities in mind, and made by and for local citizens — your neighbors and friends.

It's these people who have made Clackamas County Bank a hometown institution, serving the area since 1911. That means we're solid and established, but by no means stodgy and old fashioned.

We have all the best features and conveniences of today's banking, like 24-hour Instant Teller service and the Golden Security Society for people 55 and above.

So for the best in friendly service, sound advice, and banking features to suit your needs, you don't have to look beyond your own hometown.
