

Senior Center News:

Costume party on tap for Senior Center

A Halloween party with entertainment and refreshments will be held at the Sandy Senior Center tomorrow with festivities kicking off at 12:30 p.m.

Participants are encouraged to attend in costume. Prizes will be awarded to those sporting the most creative get-ups. An orientation program, which will be presented by staff members for new center members, will be held following the party.

A refresher workshop for anyone previously involved in the spring genealogy class will be held at the center on Monday, Nov. 1, from 10 a.m. to noon. Under the guidance of Maxine Taylor, persons will gain insights into various methods of tracing individual's ancestry. New members may also join the group at Monday's meeting.

Preparations for the Sandy Golden Age Club's Dec.

3 bazaar are underway. Seniors who wish to contribute to the effort may do so by attending weekly arts and crafts sessions at the center every Thursday after the noon meal.

Materials will be will be furnished by the center for the handicraft projects.

A volunteer attorney will be on hand to consult with persons 60 years of age and older who require legal advice next Thursday, Nov. 4, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Anyone wishing to schedule a 30-minute free appointment is asked to contact the center at 668-5569 as soon as possible.

Developers seek site OK for units

Three developers are in the pre-application stage of building income-subsidized housing complexes in Sandy. However, it appears just one will get the go-ahead to begin construction in the near future.

According to city planner Don Wilson, the three are all vying for money from Farm Home Administration (FHA) to work on their projects.

"The Farm Home Administration has indicated that only one project will be funded at this time," Wilson said. "It depends on their needs analysis. We want (the developer) to establish there's a local need."

If the developers can prove a need exists locally for more housing of this nature, then funding may be made available in the future for additional units, Wilson said.

Although all three proposals are currently just in the pre-application stage,

Monday evening each developer will get the opportunity to discuss the particulars of his or her project with the Sandy City Council and lobby for council support in a public hearing at 8 p.m. at Sandy City Hall.

Sandy's comprehensive plan requires city fathers to disperse subsidized housing throughout the community. Because all three proposals are for low- to moderate-income, subsidized family units, the city will participate in the FHA review process.

The first proposal is for a 35-unit complex, south of McCormick Drive near Loudree and Wolf Drives. That is proposed by Westgate Homes of North Bend.

The second proposal is for a 24-unit complex, submitted by Michael McKeel of Gresham. That would be built just north of Tupper Park. The final proposal, by Phyllis Mizner of Town and Country Real Estate in Sandy, is for a 20- to 24-unit development, immediately south of the Park Crest area.

The city council will consider the city's dispersal policy, its ability to serve each site with streets, sewer and water and the total number of subsidized units in the geographic area.

Youth 'trick or treat' to fill food baskets

Area youngsters are taking steps this week to brighten the Thanksgiving celebrations for some deserving senior citizens and families.

The Sandy Pathfinder Club will be going door to door tomorrow, Oct. 29, in the Sandy area gathering canned goods for Thanksgiving baskets.

Wednesday evening, some 60 Pathfinders from Hood View Seventh-day Adventist Church in Boring began their drive in the Boring-Damascus area, distributing grocery sacks for contributions which will be picked up this Saturday.

Every year Pathfinder Clubs go out at Halloween and, rather than asking for a treat for themselves, they ask for food to help others. The food collected locally is taken to the Adventist Community Service Center where it is used to prepare food baskets for deserving families in the community. Each box contains a complete meal for the family.

People in the area served by Hood View Pathfinder Club may wish to leave their sack on the doorstep if they plan to be out Saturday. It will be picked up by a club member.

If a person is not contacted by a member of one of the Pathfinder Clubs and they would like to contribute to the food drive, they may contact the local church. In Sandy, the number is 668-6144. In the Boring-Damascus area, the numbers are 663-5611 or 658-6777.

Pathfinder Clubs are sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Pathfinders in Sandy and Boring are busy this week collecting food to help stock Thanksgiving baskets for deserving families.

Baptists host revival

A Portland evangelist will lead members and friends of Orient Drive Baptist Church on a Revival Week Nov. 1 to 7 with nightly meetings at 7 p.m.

Clifford Vick, an evangelistic pastor from Lincoln Street Baptist Church in Portland, will be the speaker at the services at the church, 15150 SE Orient Drive, two and a half miles from Sandy.

Vick began his ministry in 1971 and has held pastorates in Texas, Tucson, Ariz., and Eugene before moving to Portland in 1979.

A gospel music team, Pete and Naomi Fast of Portland, will also participate in Revival Week services. They served for years in various churches in 20 states, and in West Germany and Belgium.

Nursery care will be available for children 3 years of age and younger.

Gospel show featured at Boring church

The Gospel of Christ Community Church, Boring, will welcome the Christ-A-Lairs, a traveling musical group, on Nov. 16.

The gospel group will perform at the 6:30 p.m. service at the church at 13050 SE Bobby Bruce Lane.

The family from Aberdeen, S.D., have been traveling, singing the Gospel since Jan. 1, 1973. Their travels have taken them throughout the midwestern states, into the mountain states, the southern states, New England and Canada.

The team members work together in various arrangements with solos and duets, testifying about God's love and reconciliation through personal experiences.
