Marriage breakdown film topic

A difficult subject, marriage and divorce, is the topic of "All the King's Horses," a feature film that will be shown at Sandy Baptist Church Jan. 15 at 7 p.m.

The film has captured the effects that a broken home has on everyone involved.

The principals, Jack and Sandy Benson, (played by Grant Goodeve and Dee Wallace) have what most people assume is a good basis for happiness—children, good health and financial security. Beginning with their courtship, the film follows through the erosion of their marriage until divorce seems like the only solution.

The answer comes gradually as they grudgingly surrender their rights and acknowledge that a power greater than themselves is needed.

The true story deals realistically with the actual tensions that face many families. Faced with divorce, the Bensons discovers that the love of Jesus Christ can provide the strength and emotional healing to bring their family back together.

The Outreach Commission of St. Henry's Catholic Church, 346 NW First St., Gresham, will hold registration days this Saturday, Jan. 8, after the Vigil Mass at 5 p.m. and
