Burn victim recovering

Jim Dasher, a Brightwood man seriously burned in a backyard accident, picked one of the spring's nicest days Saturday to spend his first few hours outdoors since he went to Emanuel Hospital's Oregon Burn Center.

Sandy Dasher said her husband has been standing up and taking a few steps while showing definite improvement. Mrs. Dasher said that at one point there was a possibility he would be able to spend some time at home in April but it looks as though that is no longer possible.

Dasher is recovering from burns on more than 80 per cent of his body suffered when a fuel can exploded as he lit a barbecue Jan. 7.

Mrs. Dasher said her husband goes to rehabilitation about twice a week and should be able to leave the burn unit within a couple weeks.

"He can have visitors and really enjoys them," said Mrs. Dasher "but he does get tired pretty easily."

Several community groups have raised some funds to aid the Dasher's with daily living expenses.

Mrs. Dasher said her husband is aware of the community's efforts. "It has relieved him a lot, knowing he doesn't have to worry about that," she said.

ed 7 pounds, 14 ounces. He was 20 1/2 inches long at birth.
