Candi Gould, owner of a new Candi's Crafts store in Sandy's Heritage Square, inspects some of her extensive line of craft supplies.

Craft shop opens locally

Candi Gould of Eagle Creek has relocated her extensive crafts shop from 122nd and Division in Portland to Sandy's Heritage Square Building.

Candi's Crafts recently opened here with an extensive line of craft supplies, including everything from beads to craft instruction books. The move makes Gould's shop the only crafts store in the city of Sandy. The setting's appropriate, too, in the former home of Country Fair department store. The new shop also will host craft classes. Gould is asking residents to request what classes and supplies they would like her to carry.

An open house is planned June 1-4.

Gould is assisted in the shop by Arlene Punteney of Sandy and Jessie Anderson of Portland.

Hours are 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

never though you'd get to read again.

"Lobo of the Tasaday," written and photographed by John Nance, is a book for young and old alike. Nance, a Portland native, was given the rare opportunity to record these Stone Age Philippine people shortly after their discovery.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The City of Sandy is interested in receiving bids and quotes from machinery operators for the mowing of weeds, tall grasses and noxious vegetation within the city during the spring and summer months. The city will compile a list of operators and will provide this list to property owners, who may then make contact and arrange for the service. The city will also contract with one or more operators for weed mowing services under the city's weed abatement program.

The majority of property to be mowed will be unimproved residential subdivision lots, although dense undergrowth on other properties will likely be encountered. Machinery should be of stout enough construction to handle rough ground and thick growth.

Those desiring to be placed upon the list for possible distribution should provide their name, address and telephone numbers, an indication of their machinery type and fee structure. Those desiring to contract with the city should provide the same information and should contact Don Wilson, the city planner, or Tom Reber, the city manager to discuss the matter further. (668-5533)
