

Students flocked to Sandy High School this week to register for classes and get together with old friends as school's opening day nears.

First day set for frosh

Sandy High School freshmen get their first look at the school's offerings Monday, Aug. 29, at a special orientation session.

During the first full day of school, approximately 300 freshmen will visit teachers, activity staff and administrators, according to Assistant Principal Dennis Crow.

The new students will get an outline of school rules and learn what will be expected of them academically as well as socially, he said.

Tuesday, all students will return to school for a full-day session.

Students who didn't register earlier this week will be scheduled and registered Aug. 29 during normal school hours. Those students who have not registered are asked to call the school to make arrangements for registering before the first day of school.

Parents who would like to visit with counselors may make appointments for Monday or Tuesday afternoon,

Aug. 22 and 23. All school staff will be available for visits with parents and students this Wednesday, Aug. 24.

People who plan to visit those days are asked to call ahead to make an appointment.

Throughout the year, Superintendent Roberta Hutton plans to be available to meet with parents on a weekly basis. She will remain in her office until 7 p.m. each Monday to meet interested patrons.
