An Estacada woman and her grand-daughter were slightly injured Friday when the car they were passengers in collided with a van at the intersection of 362nd Drive and Highway 26, just west of Sandy.

Francis Setness and an unidentified grand-daughter were taken to Gresham Community Hospital where they were treated for minor injuries.

According to Clackamas County sheriff's deputies, they were in a 1973 Pontiac station wagon, driven by Carl James Setness, 64, of Estacada. The vehicle was pulling on to Highway 26 from 362nd Drive and collided with a 1979 Dodge van driven by Gregory Lee Hanson, 17, of Portland.

No one in the Hanson vehicle was injured.

Mr. Setness was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Elementary board to try levy again

by HANK EMRICH
Post Correspondent

Though the amount will be split between A and B ballots, voters in the Sandy Elementary School District will see the same total they have rejected three times on their Sept. 20 ballots.

Repeating that they feel they have presented as low a budget as possible without harming education, board members stressed the need for items on both the A and B ballots.

Superintendent Clark Lund said if only the $1,784,582 A ballot passes, the school will operate with almost 10 percent less money than last year. The B ballot is $196,332.

"There is a decrease in the allowable A ballot and there is less basic school support," he said. "This is the money we will have unless the legislature exercises some sort of magic."

Lund said without passage of at least an A ballot the school could close by the end of 1983.

Some members feel "no" votes are protesting property taxes and not the way the school spends the money.

"I wonder if it is really the dollar amount (that makes a difference)," said Sharron Cox.

"I think if they are going to approve (a levy request), they will pass this one as easily as one $30,000 less," said Dorothy Mills.

Board chairman Ron Berglund disagreed. "I have some reservations about doing that. . . I think the patrons are going to be disheartened with our school board."

Dennis Traxler said resubmitting the same amount is an "honest" approach. "We are staying with what we told the public we needed to begin with," he said.

"They are used to school boards playing games. . . starting out with more than they need. We are not playing games," added Cox.

Berglund isn't satisfied that patrons will see the other board member's point. "We can't squeeze yves votes out of people," he said.

The board also voted Monday to increase swim fees and the rental charge for the use of district gyms. Only passes, both individual and family, will be affected at the aquatic center, with all passes increasing by $5.

The new charge for use of gyms will be $5 an hour, up from $5 per three-hour session previously charged. The fee will be charged to all adult groups, including the Sandy Recreation Department.

The board offered contracts to three replacement teachers and awarded a contract for burner conversion at Sandy Elementary to Moran Heating. The conversion contract is contingent on the firm's ability to complete the project before the beginning of school.

Top goals outlined for city manager

by DAN DILLON

Sandy city manager will spend more of his time in the coming year trying to find an alternative to the annual A ballot and completion of a sewage treatment plant facilities plan.

In July, City Manager Tom Reber asked the city council to prioritize goals for the fiscal year to as a guideline for his energies. Working from a list of 13 possibilities, each councilor arranged the list according to personal wishes.

The results surprised Reber and he asked for a chance to re-examine the process.

However, after looking at the prioritization process, he decided to follow the priorities determined by the mayor and council, but asked that the ballot alternative and sewage plan be given higher priority. (They had tied for sixth in the council's original voting.) Monday the council agreed.

The top five goals of the city manager for the coming year will be:

—Complete Wastewater Treatment Facilities Plan and be in a position to act on short-term and/or long-term improvements.

—Develop alternatives and pursue the chosen alternative to alleviate instability of annual A ballot.

—Better utilization of water treatment plant to achieve a greater return on the investment.

—Develop a means to finance and a plan to improve all streets within the city to current standards by 1994.

—Develop an effective citizen involvement program.
