

Sandy woman wins big

Betty King of Sandy is the lucky winner of a trip for two to Super Bowl XVIII in the Thriftway Monday Night Pro-Football Sweepstakes.

King's name was selected from hundreds of thousands of sweepstakes entries submitted at Thriftway stores in Oregon and southwest Washington. She is a regular shopper at Williams Thriftway in Sandy.

Thriftway is offering a total of $388,926 in prizes during its 16-week Monday Night Pro-Football Sweepstakes.

Anyone 18 years or older has a chance to win $2, $5, $100 or $1,000 in the weekly game card contests, which will be going on through Dec. 19, 1983. Five second chance drawings are being held in addition to the weekly game card contests. First prize in each second chance drawing is $10,000. Four second prize winners can each receive $1,000. Two trips for two to Super Bowl XVIII are also to be given away.

King was one of seven winners in the second of five drawings being held in conjunction with the contest. The two remaining drawings are scheduled for

Nov. 26 and Dec. 24. Eighty-six independently owned and operated Thriftway stores are participating in the sweepstakes event.

Health care professional speaks

Carol Nightengale, a mental health educator and clinical psychologist, told Sandy Business and Professional Women how to build a good self-image at their Nov. 2 dinner meeting. She explained how to gain self-confidence and develop self esteem.

Each person was asked to list 10 faults, then eight good traits. Then participants were asked to think of ways faults could be corrected.

Guests at the meeting included Cathy Jantz, director of the Little Chapel of the Chimes, Gresham; Ethel Fox, food services director at Cottrell School, and Sharon York, teacher's assistant in the learning center at Sandy Union High School.

The Nov. 16 fireside meeting will be held at Joan Parker's home at 7 p.m. For further information call 658-4723.
