Eagle Creek woman wins Super Bowl trip

It is proving to be an especially merry holiday season for Eagle Creek resident Helen Monroe. She is the lucky winner of a trip for two to Super Bowl XVIII in the Thriftway Monday Night Pro-Football Sweepstakes.

Monroe's name was selected from hundreds of thousands of sweepstakes entries submitted at Thriftway stores in Oregon and southwest Washington.

Thriftway is offering a total of $388,926 in prizes during its 16 week Monday Night Pro-Football Sweepstakes, according to information provided by the company.

Anyone 18 years old or older has a chance to win $2, $5, $100 or $1,000 in the weekly game card contests, which were held through Dec. 19. Five second chance drawings were held in addition to the weekly game card contests. First prize in each second chance drawing is $10,000. Four second prize winners can each receive $1,000. Two trips for two to Super Bowl XVIII were given away.

Monroe was one of seven winners in the fourth round of drawings being held in conjunction with the contest. One more drawing will be held before December 24.

Monroe is the second area resident to gain a trip to Super Bowl XVIII in the contest. Betty King of Sandy also will be going to the Super Bowl.

Helen Monroe of Eagle Creek has won a trip for two to Super Bowl XVIII. Bob Larson, Thriftway representative, is pictured presenting the award.
