Family Day at was held at St. Jude's last Thursday, with the family of staff members and residents visiting. Joyce Samsel, assistant administrator, said the residents especially enjoy having children around. "They love the activity of the children. As a matter of fact, it's probably going to become an annual event," she said. Above, Colleen Bell, LPN at St. Jude's, brought the family pony and cart, and spent considerable time giving rides.

Lind an All-American

The National Secondary Education Council announced recently that Lisa Lind has been named an Academic All-American.

These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the NSEC. Lind, who attends Sandy Union High School, was nominated for the National Award by Ken Brown, counselor.

The NSEC has established the Academic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines.

'The show goes on' for Eric Hadley

by HANK EMRICH

While working 15 hours a day may not seem like fun to some, Eric Hadley is having the time of his life.

The long days were part of the rehearsal schedule for the Sandy High graduate, who is now performing at the Jackson Hole Playhouse in Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

Hadley said the intensive 10-day rehearsal period was quite a switch from past productions with which he was involved.

"In a lot of the others you rehearse for three months and perform maybe 10 times at the most," he said. "In this show we are rehearsing for 10 days and performing for three months."

At 18, Hadley is youngest member of the cast of "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers," at the Jackson Hole Playhouse. He plays the youngest brother, Gideon, in the production.

Hadley said working in paid theater does not provide any opportunities for being lazy in learning lines. He said he was given his lines on May 28 and had them memorized the next day.

"We were doing full runs of the show on the fourth day of rehearsal," said Hadley.

The show runs Monday through Saturday, from June 7 through September 1.

Hadley said it is possible to make money in the theater, but the opportunities to make a great deal of money are infrequent.

However, he does not seem to be bothered by the slim chances of "striking it rich."

"Money isn't everything in life," said Hadley. "Happiness is, and when award at SUHS last year, Hadley said it is because of instructor Chris Harris that he got the job in Jackson Hole.

"He knew the directors at Jackson Hole Playhouse and he told me about the opening," said Hadley.

So far, Hadley has had few regrets about leaving home so soon after graduation to pursue a career in the theater.

"Some people feel that theater is a waste of time," he said, "but I feel many character building experiences happen in drama that make a well-rounded person."

The Jackson Hole Playhouse is a historic antique playhouse, the oldest in Jackson Hole. The theater features a parlor where home baked-items and specialty drinks are served. There is a pre-show performance of "the world's only cowboy magician" each night before the show.
