Youngest Cy Young Winners.

Kansas City Royals' Brett Saberhagen and New York Mets' Dwight Gooden have become the youngest pitchers ever to win the Cy Young Award in their respective leagues. Saberhagen, 21, rates the honor right behind the birth of his son Drew. Gooden, 20 at the time of award, is proud of the award received for pitching but says he's really in the game to hit.

Sweet Lynette Woodard

Lynette Woodard, of Wichita, Kansas, was named the first woman ever to the Harlem Globetrotter Basketball Team. A 5'11" guard from the University of Kansas, Lynette was the captain of the U.S. Women's Basketball Team that won the Gold Medal at the 1984 Summer Olympics.

The man is BIG!

The Chicago Bears' William "The Refrigerator" Perry started out as a 300-pound-plus defensive lineman. He began playing offense against the San Francisco 49ers. He has run for a one yard touchdown and received a touchdown pass. What do the winning Bears have in mind for Perry next? According to Coach Ditka, "The Refrigerator" may become an unlikely-to-be-sacked passer.
