

O'Halloran given annual award

Suzanne O'Halloran recently was named Realtor of the year for the Gresham area.

Being an entrepreneur and a real estate professional has given Realtor Suzanne O'Halloran independence.

And that independence has allowed her to pursue a successful career while supporting her community as a member of the Boring Grade School PTA, president and treasurer of the Sam Barlow High School "Band Aids," and YMCA Youth Project chairwoman.

"Real estate is one of the best places for women, because she can be as good as she wants to be, work as hard as she wants to work and make as much money as she wants to make," says O'Halloran, who is also a member of the Women's Council of Realtors.

She and seven other Realtors in 1979 established 20/20 Properties, of which she is now. She also owns a property management business. Both businesses have shown a steady growth since being formed, a trend O'Halloran expects to continue.

"The future depends on the real estate industry, but we've shown strong growth. We're a major player in the real estate field out here, and the future out here is growth. But it will take some time. I see us growing with the area and the market," she said.

Greater Gresham Board of Realtors, of which she is first vice president, recently name her its 1987 Realtor of the year for her involvement in community affairs, and her professional involvement in the real estate industry at the local, state
