"The Time of No Time," a book review of The Road. The EW editorial and art departments also won a third place award for general excellence.

Admission is $6 for adults and $1 for children 6-11 years old.

- Our April 26 Chow listed an outdated location for the Boba Bubble mobile tea cart. The cart, operated by Colin Albi, a South Eugene High School student, is now located at Sunrise Oriental Market on 29th near Willamette.

- In our May 31 visual arts story on an exhibit of UO MFA candidates' work, one of the artist's names was incorrect. Patience Wyman created "nullus titulus."

CORRECTIONS/ CLARIFICATIONS

- In our Summer Guide May 31, the 4th of July Freedom Festival at Alton Baker Park was incorrectly listed as free.

CHERYL LEMMER

A native of Roselle, N.J., Cheryl Lemmer studied dance for two years at Ramapo College in her home state before heading west to Arizona at age 19. She ultimately found Eugene and completed a UO degree in dance in 1980. She also married John Lemmer and had a daughter, Jesse, in 1981. Since the mid-1980s, Lemmer has taught dance, from ballet to hip hop, and exercise classes all over town. "I've taught part-time at LCC for 20 years," she notes. "I do Pilates here at In Shape and at the Pilates Center. I try to learn what's new and teach the latest." For 17 years, Lemmer has assisted her UO classmate Cindy Zreliak with the ZAPP Dance Company, a group that performs at local benefit events and goes on tour during the summer. "It's a family affair," she says: Jesse joined ZAPP when she was 8 and continued until she was 25, and John designs and builds the sets. Verna Reidy of Eugene is a regular in Lemmer's Saturday morning aerobic dance class at In Shape. "Her exuberance and talent are infectious," Reidy says. "My life would not be the same without her classes."

If you're dreaming about a great neighborhood, not just a new house...check out CoHo Ecovillage!

CoHo Ecovillage is a new cohousing community designed to encourage interactions among people, embrace diversity, and enrich lives with the pleasure of cooperation and friendship. We are building in South Corvallis now and moving in this fall. Call us, visit our website, or attend our upcoming Welcome Weekend to explore whether cohousing is right for you.

We have great financing assistance available to income-eligible households!
