

Path to Autzen

UO Duck fans get home games two weeks in a row. Last week it was all sunshine for the victory over USC, and hopefully the sun will shine down again this Saturday for the big game against Arizona State. But getting to the games by foot and bicycle can be half the fun. It's a great way to warm up on a chilly morning and a way to avoid parking problems. On game days, a long line of colorful and sometimes rowdy fans stretches from Franklin Boulevard to Autzen Stadium, and the parade has become as much a tradition as tailgating parties. This is the scenic route, crossing the beautiful Willamette River and wandering among turning trees and meadows. Osprey and nutria can often be spotted along the way, and the humans can be memorable as well. Forgot your sunglasses or tickets? Going against the flow is near impossible.

PLEASE HELP BABY ISABELLE

Isabelle Costa is an adorable, thoughtful, joyous 9-month old beauty who needs to go to Ann Arbor, Michigan to have complicated corrective heart surgery.

Isabelle has medical insurance, but the Isabelle Fundraiser has been initiated to support the parents financial needs for the next 3-4 months while they are in Michigan. Isabelle and her parents need to drive to Michigan (because Isabelle is unable to fly).

The first phase of the fundraiser looks to raise $20,000. by November 20th, when they need to leave. This will cover monthly expenses like health insurance premiums, car insurance, gas, motels, food and other necessary expenses while Dan is with his family in Michigan and unable to work.

To make a donation, you can go to any Washington Mutual Bank and ask to make a donation to the Isabelle Costa Benevolent Account, or you can send a check to:
