

in Congress continue to fund this illegal and immoral occupation, a war of aggression. This is in direct violation of the Geneva Convention, and as such, an impeachable offense.

I can't believe that you won't vote for reviving the constitutional right of habeas corpus.

I can't believe that the leading candidates for president refuse to discuss impeachment.

I can't believe that Congress continues to refuse to do their constitutionally required job and enforce the Constitution by pursuing impeachment against this obviously illegal and corrupt administration.

I can't believe that despite all of these catastrophic failures on the Dems' part, that you continue to ask me for money and support.

Frankly, I now view the Democratic Party as willing co-conspirators in the illegal acts of this junta we call BushCo. Prove me wrong, Dr. Dean. I beg you.

TIME FOR COVER-UP

Instead of destroying Mac Court, condemning property, borrowing $200 million to build a new basketball court and 12,500-seat concert venue, why not put a cover on Autzen Stadium? It might cost less, we could actually play basketball there, it has existing parking lots and for a concert it could hold more than 60,000.

World-class music could be offered to our Northwest region at a better price. Not only would the university and state of Oregon make more money, but also the local hotels and restaurants would increase their profits.

FOOTBALL FACTORY

In my 31 years in Oregon since moving from Illinois, never did I hear an Oregonian show any interest in Illinois football — until last week.

"Can the Illini beat Ohio State?" I repeatedly was asked by fans aware that undefeated Ohio State had to lose a game if the Ducks were to have a shot at the national title.

"I doubt it," I answered. I was wrong. Illinois upset the Buckeyes, and Oregon's fate appears to be in its own hands in battling Kansas and LSU for No. 1 the rest of the way.

And why not? Oregon has as much right to dominance as any football factory (disguised as an institution of higher learning) that puts computers into each player's locker area, plans to spend $200 million for a new basketball emporium and hires for $400,000 a baseball coach for a sport it has not fielded in a quarter century.
