news Briefs

Van Ornum Taser case from May 30, 2008. This is the CRB's first "community impact case" and involves accusations of excessive force. The meeting is open to the public, but public comment on the case will not be allowed at this meeting. The agenda for the meeting can be found on the police auditor page of the city of Eugene's website, or by doing an Internet search for "Eugene police auditor," or call Vicki Cox at 682-5016.

• The first meeting of the First Fridays Communities of Color Network (CCN) will be from 5:30 to 7 pm Friday, Oct. 2, in the Rock Garden on the second floor of the Lane County Public Service Building, 125 E. Eighth Ave., Eugene. The informal gathering will include food served by the MLK Jr. Culinary Arts program. The event will be sponsored each month by a different partner agency of the Diversity and Human Rights Consortium.

• LTD held an open house Sept. 29 on its various options for routing its future west Eugene EmX bus rapid transit lines. For those who missed this week's open house, more information and satellite photo maps of the route options can be found at www.ltd.org and comments can be emailed to we.emx@ltd.org or call 682-6100.

• The Northwest Power & Conservation Council, the region's official power planning agency, is currently seeking public comment on its draft Sixth
