Zoom H1 Handy Recorder

Your perspective of how you sound, may not be reality, so record yourself and listen. Here's a $99 digital recorder perfect for the music teacher, music student or any student. This little baby is the coolest and smallest high-quality recorder to hit the streets. It weighs less than a pound and while you can't hide it up your nose, the dimensions are stated in pixels. You can, with a flick of a switch, choose to record either a WAV file or an mp3 file. And, with 24 bit 96 kHz resolutions, you will have higher resolution than a CD. Zoom made the H1 Recorder with a low price and ease of operation in mind. There are no menus to scroll through, only buttons to push for the very simple tasks of recording, start, stop, playback and erase. It has all the obvious outputs needed, USB out, a line out for headphones or stereo mini output. It also has a mic / line input with an easy to adjust input level. It comes ready to operate out of the box with a 2-gig flash drive to store your sound files. Set your record levels or use the auto adjust switch, hook up to a decent playback system and gain the perspective you need to improve your sound and technique. Plug into a computer and use as a USB mic. - $99
