HELLO! MY NAME IS

NextStep

are you a Super Reuser?

ONEXTSTEP

At NextStep, we believe that Reuse is the New Recycle. When electronics are reused, raw materials are conserved and toxic e-waste is kept out of our landfills. We work hard to ensure that all reusable materials return to our community, and all recycling materials are sent to processors who meet our environmental standards.

What that means is that everything you donate to NextStep will go through a review process to determine what is reusable and what should be recycled. We start by securing anything you give us that may contain your data. All data is securely erased or securely destroyed. Then our volunteers test everything that is going to be reused. Tested computers are rebuilt into high quality reliable systems. We place these computers in our local community or offer them for sale at our ReUse Store.

Your refurbished computer may get placed with an individual, a school or a non-profit. Many of our recipients are first time computer owners. There is no better feeling than to know that you have directly helped place a computer into the hands of a child or adult who really needs it. Our mission is providing technology and training to children and adults who have barriers to employment and education, while protecting our environment and community from hazardous waste. Your donations make this possible!

Since NextStep started operations in 2002, you have helped divert over millions of pounds of material from the local landfill. NextStep accepts almost anything that plugs in, has a cable, or runs on batteries. From old typewriters to Christmas lights, and old kitchen appliances to mainframe computers.

Have you considered volunteering with NextStep? It's a great learning opportunity. If you want to know more about electronics, how they're assembled, and how we recycle them; come to a Volunteer Orientation. Orientation is held every Saturday, 11am, at our donation drop-off location: 2101 W. 10th Ave in Eugene.

Questions about what you can drop off – call us! (541) 686-2366 or visit our website: <http://nextstepprecycling.org>

Interested in writing about your business? It is now included as part of a discounted Classifieds ad package. Call 541-484-0519 for more info.
