Meet Nicole.

She is a 21-year-old of Mexican and Hungarian descent born and raised in Redondo Beach, California. She is currently studying Psychology and Communications, but really hopes to be an actress. Though she sees acting as a far-fetched dream, in only two years Nicole has already appeared in numerous commercials, on the TV show Victorious, and in the soap opera The Bold and the Beautiful. It is funny to her that she is frequently typecast as the valley-girl because it seems like not so long ago she was that dorky kid in middle school obsessed with horror movies and often wearing a Chucky T-shirt. She is still a big fan of horror, but as a self-proclaimed tomboy her dream role is to star in an action movie doing her own stunts. The gymnastics she did as a kid and her current hobby of running make her feel fairly prepared for such an undertaking, but Nicole fears her terrible driving might need some work if she is going to do any car stunts. Her other skills include oil painting and making balloon animals, but her favorite thing to do is hang out at home with her family and five pets. She is pictured here wearing the Winie Print Cotton Spandex Crop Tank and the Winie Print Cotton Spandex Jersey Legging.
