Reactions to Kaleidoscope have ranged from youthful squeals of euphoria — “This was most epic weekend of my life!” — to fist-shaking “get off my lawn” disapproval. Friday’s headliner Bassnectar — baron of the bass heads — even weighed in online the morning after: “Eugene, Oregon, went wild last night in one of the most killer outdoor camping venues I’ve seen on the West Coast. Perfect crowd, perfect weather, perfect evening.” The countdown has already begun for Kaleidoscope Music Festival 2014 (and 2015); OneEleven, the production company behind the event, has a three-year contract with the county.
