Insight Seminars

Fall 2013

Renaissance Science: Rare Books and the New World of Knowledge

Professor Vera Keller (Clark Honors College)

Wednesday, September 18 (1:00 p.m.–5:00 p.m.) • Browsing Room, 106 Knight Library, 1501 Kincaid Street

In this seminar we consider Francis Bacon's role as fiction maker, provocateur, and publicist for Renaissance science. Through adventurous fictions and gorgeous images, Bacon offered a powerful image of future knowledge. We'll explore the riches of UO Libraries Special Collections rare books and read sections of Bacon's New Atlantis. This seminar will be held in conjunction with the UO Libraries Printing Science Exhibition (June 3, 2013–Oct. 4, 2013). Cost: $45

Japan in the Age of the Shoguns

Professor Andrew Goble (History)

Saturdays, October 5, 12, 19, 26 (9:30 a.m.–noon) • Browsing Room, 106 Knight Library, 1501 Kincaid Street

As we explore Japan during the vibrant Tokugawa period (1600–1868), we will join Engelbert Kaempfer, a German physician who sojourned in Japan during 1690–1692. Published in 1727, his rich description of life and customs was a best seller. His direct voice will complement the lectures, famous wood-block prints, and an evocative Kurosawa film (Redbeard) depicting the dramas of Japanese life in the early 1800s. Cost: $99

King Lear

Professor Jim Earl (English)

Saturdays, November 2, 9, 16, 23 (9:30 a.m.–noon) • Knight Library Browsing Room, 1501 Kincaid Street

King Lear confronts the folly and the wisdom of old age. Is it Shakespeare's greatest play? It is certainly one of the richest in its language and themes, and legendarily challenging to perform. We will read the play closely and compare four great film performances, by Orson Welles (1953), Paul Scofield (1971), Lawrence Olivier (1984) and Ian McKellen (2009). Cost: $99

Cooking Up Your Family Heritage

Professor Riki Saltzman (Oregon Folklife Network)

Saturday, December 7 (9:00 a.m.–1:00 p.m.) • Browsing Room, 106 Knight Library, 1501 Kincaid Street

This seminar will investigate the ways that food, family and folklore intersect. We will reflect on the stories behind family recipes, ethnic, regional, and holiday foods. You will share your own stories around food and learn creative ways to preserve family recipes and memories in a cookbook that will be treasured for generations. Cost: $45
