- Not much has changed since last year — or the year before that, or the year before that ... Hideaway can't be beat for that savory bun, loaf or crust that you're waiting for. Even when the line gets long, you get to stare at the fresh, doughy goodness behind the glass the whole way, and the sweet, seasonal espresso drinks couldn't make a better complement.

BEST HANGOVER BREAKFAST

2. Glenwood 1340 Alder St. 687-0355; 2588 Willamette St. 687-8201.
3. Studio One Café 1473 E. 19th Ave. 342-8596.

It's hard to talk about Brails without immediately conjuring up images of syrup-drenched pancakes, scrambled eggs and perfectly toasted, crunchy-yet-chewy hash browns. Joy Knudtson, owner of Brails, is no stranger to the best hangover breakfast award, and when asked why she thinks Brails has scored for a 10th year, she says it's because she makes an effort to connect with her community. "We have really quality food, but I have a very good relationship with a lot of people who come through our restaurant, and it makes me so happy," she says. And Knudtson recently reached out to the community through volunteer work, helping to make 300 pancakes and 100 orders of biscuits and gravy for the Eugene Mission. "The guy from the Mission came in today and said he really appreciated it," Knudtson says. "That kind of thing makes me so happy, so from now on I'll do it every year."
