

FOR PEOPLE WHO LIKE TO EAT AND DRINK

Urban Lumber Company

28 E. Broadway

Working in cooperation with city governments, neighborhoods and homeowners in our area, master woodworker Seth San Filippo of Urban Lumber salvages, harvests or reclaims wood and turns it into beautifully crafted products. The cutting board ($65), pepper grinder ($87.50), small boxes ($12 each) and salt bowls ($9 each) look great, feel great, do their jobs well and would be welcome in anyone's kitchen.

The Tap and Growler

207 E. 5th Ave.

For just $15 through Dec. 31, purchase a Holiday Gift Pack from The Tap and Growler for your beer or wine lover, which includes a 32-ounce growler filled with any beer of their choice or $10 off a fill of any wine, and either a tulip glass for beer or stemmed glass for wine. While filling up, sample from T&G's selection of 70 taps or try the delicious and affordable cheese and charcuterie platter – only $10 for seven items. The Tap and Growler offers on-tap beer, wine, cider, mead, kombucha, cold brewed espresso, soda, root beer and even sake.

Midtown Direct Smoke Shop

133 E. 13th Ave.

Nothing turns on the taste buds like a smoking session. For your giftees who enjoy electronic cigarettes, give them Scorpion Bros. candy cane oil, one of 17 flavors the Eugene-based company makes for e-cigs ($12.50). The flavor of butane is not welcome at the party, so avoid that by using Maritime Hemp Company's hemp wick. For only $3.50, get 10 feet of hemp wick that can be lit and used to light your blunts. Fantasia's electronic hookah provides 800 tar-free, tobacco-free and nicotine-free puffs in a delightful Washington Apple flavor ($14.99). The Atmos Junior is a svelte version of the useful device that turns your favorite herbs into vapor ($115). Give someone the portable, battery-operated essence of basil ... or whatever.
