As part of Cinema Pacific's Schnitzer Cinema program, film historian Dennis Nyback will recreate in real-time the 1961 presentation of Heaven and Earth Magic, a feature-length animated film by Portland-born producer Harry Smith, whose most famous work is the vaunted Anthology of American Folk Music. Nyback, a founding member of the Oregon Cartoon Institute (yes, you heard correctly ... we have a cartoon institute!), will shuttle between several film and slide projectors in order to create the layered images that played on screen during the original showing of Smith's film — a strange, surreal story about a woman, a watermelon and a toothache.

Dennis Nyback performs his live projection of Harry Smith's Heaven and Earth Magic 7pm Wednesday, Nov. 5, at UO's Jordan Schnitzer Museum of Art; $5, $3 for seniors and free for students, faculty, JSMA members and anyone under the age of 18.
