Look, just because we voted to legalize recreational marijuana doesn't mean life henceforth is going to be all laser light shows and Cypress Hill records. Cannabis is a many splendored plant, but it's not without its hazards and intricacies. Come July, you're going to want the straight dope. That's why Eugene-based OG Analytical, the state's pioneering cannabis testing facility, launches a Science Pub series devoted entirely to the plant and its soon-to-be legalized uses. This month's program, titled "Legalization 101," will feature speakers from Oregon's Constant Gardener, as well as representatives of Eugene PD. Learn about growing your own supply and hear what the fuzz has to say about it.
