Word is

Oregon lettuce in space! When NASA scientists chose a type of lettuce to grow on the International Space Station, they went with Outredgeous, a red romaine leafy green variety developed by Wild Garden Seed in Philomath, Oregon. The space-grown lettuce tastes "awesome," according to NASA astronauts who sampled the lettuce in early August. And really, what else would you expect of Oregon-bred produce? Order your own organic Outredgeous seed at wildgardenseed.com.
