COMPANY WITH A CONSCIENCE

From product quality and sustainable packaging, to fair labor practices and watershed conservation, we take pride in doing business right. Our core belief that people, plants, and planet are more important than profit guides everything we do.

Certified organic prohibits genetically modified organisms, synthetic fertilizers, herbicides, pesticides, and irradiation.

We are third party audited for our working conditions, labor practices, social benefits, transparency, and product origins.

We conserve water with a satellite controlled irrigation system, have a pesticide-free facility, and use a bio-swale to filter runoff.

Through the Forest Grown program we are able to offer medicinal plants that are sustainably harvested from their native ecosystems.

We've verified a selection of products that are known to be at risk of GMO contamination.

We offset our entire company's carbon footprint with climate change projects and our facility is solar powered.

With a focus on reduction, reuse, recycling, composting, and reclamation, we have become a zero waste company.
