CALENDAR

Twangy and decked out in plaid, the Whiskey Shivers are the epitome of hipster country boys. And, boy, do they know how to play. The band (claiming to have been "born in a woodpile") got started in 2009, and they've been raisin' hell, whiskey bottles in hand, ever since. Bobby Fitzgerald (vocals, fiddle) curls his mustache and croons raspy-voiced lyrics of love, life and booze. Andrew VanVoorhees plucks away at the upright bass. Joe Duece scratches the washboard. Guitarist Jeff "Horti" Hortillosa and banjo phenom James Bookert are damn near impossible to keep up with. Whiskey Shivers get down and play hard Wednesday at the Hi-Fi Lounge. Check 'em out for an always-needed dose of yee-haw.

Catch Whiskey Shivers 10pm Wednesday, July 6, at the Hi-Fi Music Hall, 44 E. 7th Ave.; $10. — Kelsey Anne Rankin
