In 2015, there were 45 separate incidents of fatal domestic violence in Oregon, with the highest number of incidents concentrated in Lane and Multnomah Counties, according to the Oregon Coalition Against Domestic & Sexual Violence. October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month (DVAM). Womenspace, here in Eugene, has a month full of events based on building solidarity and awareness in the community. To kick off the month, from 6-7 pm on Sunday, Oct. 1, Womenspace is holding a Vigil for Victims and Survivors of Intimate Partner Violence at the Wayne Morse Free Speech Plaza (8th and Oak Street). The vigil will be a space to remember victims, stand up for survivors and continue to fight towards a safer community, according to Womenspace Outreach and Volunteer Coordinator, Sofia Mackey. Community members of all ages and gender are invited to attend. The vigil will include local music, words from community leaders, such as Mayor Lucy Vinis, acknowledgement and remembrance of people who have been lost to intimate partner violence and information on how to get involved in the fight to end intimate partner violence. This event is FREE. Womenspace’s DVAM spans the whole month of October, for more information on upcoming events visit womenspaceinc.org/dvam. — Meerah Powell
