

WHAT'S HAPPENING

The second Annual Women's March for Action celebrates the legacy of the first Women's March, inviting all women, femmes, and allies to join the rally. Indivisible Eugene helped organize the local Women's March in Eugene last year with 7,000 protesters attending, and is a major organizer of this year's event as well. This year's event will focus on the launch of #PowerToThePolls. According to powertothepolls.com, "The national voter registration tour will target swing states to register new voters, engage impacted communities, harness our collective energy to advocate for policies and candidates that reflect our values, and collaborate with our partners to elect more women and progressives candidates to office." Eugene's organizers say they will encourage participants to find a cause that resonates with them the most, and provide support within the community to help find solutions and make a change locally. Speakers for the rally include Congressman Peter DeFazio; Nichi Masters Linder, field director for Planned Parenthood and More Power; the NAACP Lane County Youth Council Members, President Kai Isaia and NAACP Lane County Program Coordinator Brittany Judson. The rally ends with a concert at Whirled Pies, including performances by Soromundi, Rise! Dance! Resist!, Raging Grannies and Cross Current. Organizers anticipate approximately 3,000 people to attend this year's event.

Indivisible Eugene's second Annual Women's March for Action is 1-3:30 pm Saturday. It starts with a rally at the Federal Court House, 405 E. 8th Avenue, and the march begins at 1:30 pm, heading north on Mill and ending at Whirled Pies, where entertainment will perform until 4 pm. — Kyla Ramsey
