

Watching the Trump Administration single-handedly destroy natural lands in the U.S. is disheartening. Here's your chance to help make a difference in a fun way. "The Shut It Down Party" will raise money to pay for travel and legal costs for "valve turners" who shut down five transnational oil pipelines transporting dirty Canadian tar sands to the U.S. One of the valve turners, Leonard Higgins will be at the event. Higgins, a former resident of Corvallis, faced up to 10 years of prison time, but a Montana judge ruled that he would only be forced to pay $3,755 to Enbridge, Inc. in restitution. That seems like small apples for a multinational energy transportation corporation that brings in $34.7 billion annual revenue, according to their most recent annual report. Yet, he could have been ordered to pay more. Enbridge wanted Higgins to pay back about $30,000. Lauren Regan, of the Civil Liberties Defense Center, questioned the amount and the court agreed that Enbridge were overreaching in their restitution claims. Despite the Montana judge's statement to Higgins that if he set foot in his courtroom again, he'd get a full sentence, Higgins says he believes direct action is making a dent with how the judicial system is taking on a responsibility with climate change.

The Shut it Down Party is 6:30 to 11 pm Saturday, April 14, at the Odd Fellows Hall (223 SW 2nd St. in Corvallis). Can't make it all the way to Corvallis but still want to support the Valve Turners? You can make out a check to "Climate Direct Action" to 6226 6th Ave. NW Seattle, WA 98107. Suggested donation: $20. — Henry Houston
