Cultured Cannabis

written by amazon organics

Building on experiences of creativity and cannabis cultivation, Amazon Organics was launched with the idea of providing consumer access to truly farm-to-market cannabis.

The ownership of AO and local cannabis brand Herban Tribe say their philosophy was to create a business model that encompassed the complete life of the flower.

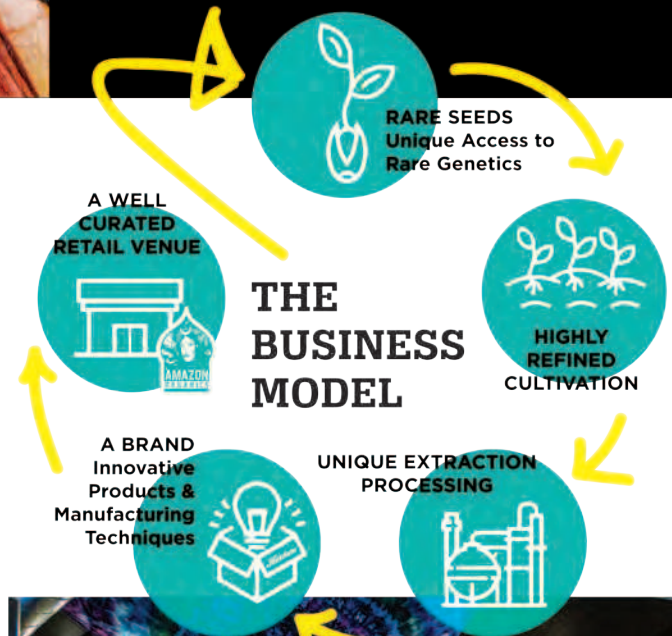

"We never want the legalization movement to result in people not knowing where their herb comes from."

At Amazon Organics, you will find a carefully curated and ever-changing menu of the finest flower and cannabis related products and accessories. Stop in and discover some REAL cannabis culture.

"Super, caring staff, always welcoming, always helpful. They've been great with answering all my questions, making recommendations, discussing pros and cons. This is my shop of choice."
