

Discover (OR RE-DISCOVER!) OLLI-UO AT OUR SPRING TERM EXPO

Monday, April 1, 10:30 a.m.-noon

UO Baker Downtown Center, 975 High Street, Eugene
This event is free and open to the public.

Visit Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at the University of Oregon to find out what we have planned for the spring, hearing directly from our facilitators and instructors. Whether it's history and the arts, international relations and current events, or science and math, OLLI-UO has a class for every set of interests.

Eugene Weekly is rebuilding its sales team and has big plans for the future!

Are you interested in working at the the most important source for independent local news in Eugene? Do have the advertising sales chops to help rebuild this vital journalism organization?

Can you manage a small sales team, build sales packages and develop relationships with businesses throughout the city?

You're the ideal candidate if you're a creative thinker with a keen understanding of new platforms for marketing and advertising that extend beyond print — i.e., social, digital, native, and the like. It will be your responsibility to build strong partnerships with clients and to identify creative ways to leverage the EW voice on their behalf. The right person for this job must be extremely motivated — and entrepreneurial in spirit. EW is a small, scrappy team that offers an exciting and challenging environment that is best-suited to passionate self-starters who are not afraid to roll up their sleeves.

This role reports to the publisher, has a strong compensation and bonus plan and plenty of opportunity for growth.
