

Azalea Garden Club Heard Expert On Rose Culture At Thursday Meeting

The Azalea Garden Club held its regular meeting last Thursday with Mrs. Newton, president, in charge.

Mrs. Maud Luick of Smith River, made a report on the Redwood Tribute Grove. Everyone of this part of the country is vitally interested in this national park.

The club members and guests enjoyed a real treat in the talk on "Rose Culture" by Mrs. Edna Plaisted of Crescent City. Local rose gardens will be greatly improved by contact with this lady who has had years of experience with roses.

Mrs. A. E. Stonehouse gave an amusing stunt in Professor Quick Change and his family style. She changed costumes and impersonated the professor, his son, daughter and the negro mammy.

Mrs. Milley Barker of Crescent City gave two humorous readings.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Edna Plaisted, Mrs. Lewis Winter of Crescent City; Mrs. Vivian M. Hunter of Los Angeles; Mrs. J. O. Jacobson, Mrs. R. A. Keiser, Mrs. Martha Fiker, Mrs. Clarence Westbrook Mrs. Luella Wilson, Smith River; Mrs. Catherine Williams of Grants Pass; Mrs. Lane Smith of Keno; Mrs.

Mrs. Stonehouse Speaks At "Tea"

Mrs. A. E. Stonehouse, of Brookings, was principal speaker at the Daffodil Tea, an annual affair, held Tuesday at Smith River. Her topic was "Art of Flower Arrangement."

Arranged on a number of long tables, were displayed some 45 different species of daffodils, so arranged to emphasize the beauty of each species. This arrangement was discussed by the principal speaker.

Besides the large attendance of flower lovers from the Brookings-Harbor area, many came from Crescent City, Cave City and all points in the vicinity. Mrs. Harry O. Smith, president of Oregon Federation of Garden Club, also was a visitor.

The tea is given annually at Smith River by the local branch of the Federation of Womens Clubs for maintenance of the Smith River public library. Over 300 were present, Tuesday.

Roads Signs Prey Of Vandal Group

Either pranksters or malicious, destructive individuals have been busy in this area, tearing down private road signs, and entrance markers to roads leading to private homes. These acts of vandalism are arousing justifiable anger among many residents, particularly in Harbor where they seem most active.

Judge Sandbo has been contacted by Harbor residents in this matter, and he is pledging the matter, and he is pledging his dalism through his official capacity as justice of the peace.

The exact number of entrance markers and street signs destroyed is not known. However, if this practice doesn't stop, the people in Harbor affected are planning on taking drastic action.

Pete Woodburn and Ray Shannon of Portland were Brookings-Harbor visitors last week-end. They were enthusiastic over the potential prospects of the community and are interested in entering business, and making their homes here.

The Chetco Cafe will be closed Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week, when Mr. and Mrs. Jim Robinson will be at San Francisco, where they will try to buy an ice cream cabinet and other fixtures for the cafe.
