Smith River

Mrs. Bennie Ham and Mrs. Alf Goodlin of Smith River, Calif., were Brookings shoppers, Tuesday and while there called on friends.

Lake Earl Grange met in regular session Thursday evening at their hall at Fort Dick. Master Bennie Ham presided. Several important matters were taken care of during the business session. A number of applications were received, seeking Grange membership.

Reports were given by committee chairmen. Plans are being made to make several improvements at the hall, following a report by Alf Goodlin, building committee chairman.

Tom Pennell was appointed as Grange insurance agent by Master Ham. Bernice White was appointed captain of the Lake Earl degree team.

Charles Glover gave an outline of the California physicians' service. At the meeting, Thursday, May 16, there will be a representative of the California Physicians' service present to explain the Grange Co-operative Health plan to the members. Master Ham presented Billie Chaney, a recent newlywed a lovely blanket from the Grange. At the close of the meeting sandwiches and baked beans were served by the refreshment committee.

The home of Mrs. Eva Hill was the scene of a family gathering Mothers Day, when her three sons were present to extend greeting. The living room was beautiful with bouquets of flowers. The mantle was a mass of roses and various flowers. A dinner was served at noon, and during the afternoon music, singing and a social time was spent. Present were Mr. and Mrs. David Crockett and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crockett and Harvey Lockwood of the Chetco valley. Another son, Zahni Crockett of Pistol River, was unable to be present as he was out in the hills, bear hunting.

Word was received by Mrs. Agnes Maris, telling of the death of her friend, Mrs. Sadie Cooley Pettinger, who passed away at the home of her daughter in Idaho, following an illness of several months, due to heart ailment. Mrs. Pettinger, native of Chetco valley, was the only daughter of the late John and Lizzie Cooley, pioneers of Curry County, Ore. She had made her home for many years at Agnes, Ore., and is survived by her widower, Charles Pettinger, an officer with the U. S. Navy, in the South Pacific, and seven children and grandchildren.

Mothers day was observed at the local Methodist church Sunday with a large attendance. Rev. E. C. Hicks delivered the sermon, with several special Mothers Day hymns by the young peoples choir. Corsages were presented to the oldest mother, Mrs. Eddie Westbrook; the youngest mother, Mrs. Jesse Lehmkuhl, and to Mrs. J. H. Moore, mother of 11 children.

"Perilous Holiday" At Pine Cone, Sun.

Since thrill-packed adventure and tingling excitement are what every movie fan craves, it is suggested you hustle over to the Pine Cone Theatre and catch Columbia Pictures' "Perilous Holiday," starring Pat O'Brien with Ruth Warrick and featuring Alan Hale, Edgar Buchanan and Audrey Long.

Based on the celebrated Collier's story by Robert Carson that thrilled millions, the film is the perfect vehicle for Pat O'Brien, providing him with the romantic swaggering type of role at which he is so adept. A gang of international crooks and two glamorous women looking for love lead Pat a merry chase against the intriguing background of Mexico City. And Pat handles them all with his usual finesse. In addition, as a surprise, Pat turns up as a convincing crooner! That's right—he sings in several scenes, and is good, too.

Ruth Warrick departs from her former demure portrayals to play the part of a smart girl columnist from the states who knows all the answers, and she handles the new role adroitly. Similarly, Alan Hale gets the chance to display his versatility as the "heavy" of the film, and is as menacing a villain as this reviewer has seen in a long, long time.

Roy Chanslor has whipped the story into a crackling screenplay, and the characters come vividly to life. There's Patrick Nevil (Pat O'Brien), an adventurer with an eye for a well-turned ankle! Agnes Stuart (Ruth Warrick), a newspaper gal on the track of a story and a husband! Mysterious Dr. Lilley (Alan Hale), who kills for the thrill of it!

The Chetco Cafe has announced, that starting today, the cafe will be closed on Thursdays. This is a change in closing days. Prior to this date they closed on Tuesdays.

Fire Does Little Damage At Market

Fire broke out in the warehouse of the Brookings Market, Tuesday morning, but was discovered in time, and put out before any serious damage was done. The volunteer firemen answered the alarm, but through the quick action of Ray Goldizen, of the Brookings Garage next door, a foamite fire extinguisher was brought into play and the blaze was out before the fire truck arrived.

An extension cord, being used by workmen, short-circuited and fell on a pile of paper bags containing insulation materials. The sparks set the bags afire, and the fire was starting to burn rapidly when Goldizen discovered the smoke. He grabbed a large foamite fire extinguisher and turned it on the blaze. In the meantime, Helen Fisher saw the blaze and spread the alarm in the store, and Bert DeMoss called the fire department.

Quite a crowd gathered but by time most of them arrived, the blaze was out. Thor Ask, owner of the store, stated that the damage was negligible, and what damage was done came from smoke.

For The Census

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pergina announce the birth of a 5-lb, 14-oz daughter, at Palo Alto, Calif., the past week. Mrs. Pergina, the former Miss Cleo Cross, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Cross of Brookings. At present Mrs. Cross is with her son-in-law and daughter at Palo Alto. Frank Pergina is a yeoman first class in the navy and presently is stationed at the 12th Naval District headquarters at San Francisco.
