

Poppies Will Be in Sale In Area Saturday, May 25

Last Appeal Made By Local Unit Of American Legion Auxiliary

There is a story behind every one of the little red poppies which the citizens of this area and all Oregon will wear in honor of the dead, Saturday, May 25 — Poppy Day.

YOUR POPPY IS DOING DOUBLE DUTY THIS YEAR...

POPPY DAY

Each poppy is different and has its own story, explained Mrs. Ethel Lowe, president of Chetco Poppy Day.

the hands of men who were hurt 28 years ago in the battles of the first world war. Others have been disabled by young veterans injured in Europe or in the Pacific in the second conflict, who made poppies this year for the first time. If we could know the stories of all those veterans, old and young, they would make an epic of service and suffering for the security of America.

"Making the poppies has two important benefits for disabled veterans," Mrs. Mendenhall continued. "First, it enables them to earn money. The American Legion Auxiliary pays them for every poppy they make. To actually earn some money again is an encouraging experience for these men, after long months of helplessness. Most of them send the money home to their families. "Second, the work is valuable as occupational therapy. It occupies their hands and minds and helps them get well.

"I hope everyone who puts on a poppy on Poppy Day will look closely at the little flower and think of the men who make the poppies, what they have been through and what they are still enduring because of their war service. Then it will be understood that the poppy is not a machine-made tag, but a carefully shaped symbol of remembrance made by the disabled in honor of their departed comrades."

Sawmill May Be In Production Soon

The Lone Star Lumber Co., tentative name for the mill being built on the Sullivan tract by the Texas invaders of Waters, Lovett, and Miller, is nearing completion and it is anticipated that sawing will start in the early part of June.

The mill is being built from timber which was purchased from Steve Sullivan, and already some machinery is being installed. The main motive power for the mill will be a 250-horse power radial diesel engine.

No mill pond will be installed, since the logs will be taken to the carried by a high line stretching from supports about 300 feet apart.

At present, all logging will be done by tractor. It is expected that most of the lumber will be shipped to southern and eastern markets.
