

"Terminal Pay" Is Still Far Away

Veterans were cautioned this week not to become prematurely excited over the pending "terminal leave pay" bill in Congress because the possibilities are that, should it become a law, it will be some time yet before any pay will be available to ex-service men for unused furlough or leave time.

This word of caution came from officials of the state Department of Veterans' Affairs, after reports that veterans have started already to make application for this pay in various veterans' aid offices throughout the state, believing that the bill had already been spoken for, the bill only came out of the House military affairs committee last week.

Although passage by the House seems certain, the Senate still must take action, and considerable delay is expected there.

Furthermore, spokesmen said, even if the leave pay bill should pass both houses there is a possibility the president will follow the lead of the budget bureau, which is opposed to the bill, and veto it.

If and when it does become law Veterans' Affairs officials said they will release full details and explain how Oregon veterans can apply for the pay.

John Bowdish and Charles Ward left here Friday afternoon for Medford to spend the week-end on business. They returned here Sunday evening.

Cape Farrello

Last Thursday a delightful time was enjoyed by those who attended a community barbecue on Cape Farrello road, at the old Doyle ranch. The get-together was in honor of Mrs. Everett Isenhart's relatives who are visiting here from Petoska, Mich. The guests were Charlotte Algear, Meda Tappe, and Mrs. Isenhart's sister, Mrs. Nola Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Isenhart's family, Mrs. Isenhart's mother, Ona Vandenburg, and Mr. Isenhart's father, of Brookings. Mr. and Mrs. Moad and granddaughter, Betty of Langlois, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heffner and son and their visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Ifford Scoggins of Klamath Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Young and his father, and son, Mr. and Mrs. Baughn, R. E. Simmons and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. Bob Williams, Steve Ettinger, Carl Kinian, Beverley Hill, Bob and Phyllis Johnson and Bob Barton who recently returned from overseas. Dolph Moad, Ralph Young and Bob Simmons did the culinary art at the barbecue pits—surprising what men can do. Public opinion demands that it should be done again.

A dinner was held Sunday at home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Baughn in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Dawson, recently married. Besides the young couple, guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dawson and son. The bride's father, Mr. Young, Ralph and Irene Young, and Tommy Whiting.
