

LANGLOIS

Returns From School

Mrs. Wanda Volck, principal of Langlois grade school, and Mrs. Ruth Murphy, fourth and fifth grade teacher, returned late Sunday evening from Ashland, where they attended summer school at Southern Oregon College of Education.

During their stay, Mrs. Volck visited her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker, at Mt. Shasta, Calif., and enjoyed a trip to Mt. Bradley, where her sister is observer of the lookout station at 5500 feet altitude.

Vacation Bible School

The third annual Bible school will open Monday, June 24, to run until July 6, under leadership of Misses Wanda Needles and Rose Parnakian, of Business Woman's Bible School, from 9 to 11 a. m. An enjoyable and enthusiastic time is anticipated. All the children are cordially invited.

Forty-five attended Sunday school last Sunday and were glad to have Supt. Mrs. Volck back after an absence of two Sundays. While she was away Betty Storm filled the position. The contest of the past three months was drawn to a close with the Blue side winning. Ruth Donaldson was leader of the Blues and Betty Storm of the Reds. The school was pleased with a hymn by Glenda Holycross, Doreen Walker, Mary Jean Sabin and Grey Marie DeHaven; a duet was given by Kenneth Thompson and A. E. Volck. Visitors were Miss Wanda Needles and Rose Parnakian, Rev. Rosenkilde, Bandon, and his mother, Mrs. Rosenkilde, of Portland.

The picnic which has been postponed the past two Sunday, due to weather, will be held, Sunday, July 7. Instead of the three classes as planned, the entire Sunday school will attend.
