Made-to-Measure PRINTING

Printing, like clothing, suits, or overcoats, is made-to-measure, set up to fit individual needs. And, like clothing, it reflects bearing, poise, and gives an impression on whom you call!

Experience

Like your tailor, your printer must have experience—he must know all about “those little” things which “make” your printing have the class it should—he must “tailor” your printing to fit the business for which the printing is intended. Printers, other than those who’ve been grounded thoroughly in all phases, are not capable of doing just that.

Equipment

Like experience, there is a matter of equipment—no one can possibly perform any duty of this nature without adequate and modern machinery. The Pilot has, for a weekly newspaper, exceptionally modern and adequate equipment to turn out any printing needed in the area.
