

Our Pictures Are Billed at Pine Cone

Another big week of shows is promised at the Pine Cone, when pictures are billed. Starting this week, Friday, Saturday, will be a double feature, "Return to Rusty," another story for all lovers, and "Northwest Trails," a show which will hold a surprise for the patrons.

One of filmdom's most popular under-dogs, the handsome Rusty will feature the show Friday. The cast is headed by Ted Donahoe, John Littel, Mark Dennis, Barbara Wooddell and Robert Stevens. This is a sequel to the well-received "Adventures of Rusty" of last season.

Of all the native Californians in Hollywood—and there aren't many of them—Leo Carillo is probably most active in state and national affairs. As a matter of fact, Carillo admitted that when Earl Warren goes to the presidency, he will run for the office of governor to succeed him.

As he played a featured role in the public musical, "Mexicana," during Sunday, Carrillo conducted his affairs as a member of the California State Park commission in an elaborate trailer on the lot. He has a voice in the distribution of 15 million dollars for recreational centers, the Redwood empire, purchase of beaches and the care of historic landmarks.

Closing the week at the Pine Cone will be "Casanova in Burlesque," starring Joe E. Brown, one of Hollywood's most beloved and most widely-traveled personalities.

Joe finds himself in plenty of hot water, and he usually can go for that stuff, as a result of his double life—nine months of the year he is a studious professor at Wequot College, but the remaining three months of the year he cuts loose as "Casanova Kelly," one of the dizziest hoofers in burlesque.

Orton Bros. Install Fish New Market

Iris and Lester Orton are constructing a fish and crab stand near Hanscam's store in Harbor, and hope to have it in operation shortly.

They have fished out of the Chetco river for several years, and have sold fish around town, but with the fish stand they will fill a long-felt need.

Mrs. Harvey Opens A Piano Studio Here

Mrs. Norine Harris Harvey, granted a life certificate in 1919, has opened a piano studio in her home here. For many years she taught at Portland and Seattle.

In her career, Mrs. Harvey has been active in music clubs in those cities. Besides being a pipe organist, she also has done concert work as well as choir and radio.

Firestone Velon Tinted Screening

Window screens of the new Firestone miracle material VELON, possess a glowing beauty which makes them an important decorative accessory. Velon screens are scientifically tinted to blend with both interior and exterior color schemes.

Velon window screens are impervious to sun, heat, moisture, salt air, acids or alkalis. They won't rust, tarnish, break or streak building surfaces beneath them. Velon screens are six times more resistant to damage by impact than metal screens of the same gauge. They give under impact, then spring back to their original shape.

.....Even though Velon screens are comparable in price to the better metal screens, they provide the owner with greater economy because:

(1) They never wear out, (2) they never need refinishing
