Mrs. Frank Waldien

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Omlin of Gold Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson, also of Gold Beach, visited Mr. and Mrs. Don Estes at Long Ridge lookout last Sunday. The children, Jill Omlin, and Caroline Wilson, were with their parents.

Marion Nance, forest ranger, of Gold Beach, and Bert Lane, government packer, made a trip to Mt. Emily last Thursday. The packer took supplies in for Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pickens, stationed there.

Mrs. Frank Waldien and children made a business trip to Gold Beach Wednesday. They stopped en route to visit friends.

Benny Jones spent last weekend with the Frank Waldien family.

Bill Lane, Snow Camp lookout, reports the following: James Neeman, a botanist of Portland, visited several days in the vicinity

Windy Valley in search of unclassified plants. Ben Gardner Jr. of Pistol River acted as guide and companion. They left Sunday.

The U. S. Forest Service road crew has worked the road as far as Snow Camp.

Visitors at the lookout last Sunday were L. A. Daily of Corvallis, W. Ostrander, J. H. Hunt, O. P. Meyer, Don Yates and Roy Yates of Pistol River. They camped at Foster Camp, on Windy Valley Creek.

BIT O' THIS AND THAT—

Our irrigation system struck a definite snag a week or so ago—the snag being it just wouldn't pump water. Everything seemed to go wrong till Benny Jones came onto the scene. However, it didn't take him very long to make a summary of the few things he needed to put it into perfect running order, and he promptly went home to obtain these. All he had in the trunk of his Dodge sedan when he arrived at the ranch was a 32-volt Delco light plant, tools galore, electric wires and testers, a piece of this and a hunk of that! Generally speaking he had all the things that make motors purr and water pour—and it did just that—for the men folks! But it was a different story with me! Sadly I related to them how I'd tried in vain to start it during the week. If only I had this fixed. Benny promptly fixed it. When he finished I suggested politely that if I had that changed a bit I thought it'd be a lot better. Benny fixed that. Again I made a suggestion that I thought if this were changed the other way, I would be more certain I could start it alone. He fixed the other. So with this, that and the other fixed I now happily irrigate whenever I please but it took all the inventive, mechanical and electrical genius of Mr. Jones to make a heap of machinery easy enough to operate for me. So it is that I say to you:

If troubles knock upon your door—and you're all beset with moans—just forget the epithets and call on Mr. Jones!

To Mrs. Wiedemann (the bride who found herself heir to a string of milk cows during her honeymoon)! You may find a suggestive note in the following which I submit, with due apologies to the writers of that beautiful song, "Symphony":

Symphony.....
Ah, what harmony.....
Come to the barn with me
That's where we start.
Feed the cow.....
Then to milk but how (hard milker)
Books all fail me now
So faint at heart.
As I pine.....
Light begins to shine!
Follow you these lines?
Life is not so dark.
Toil no more.....
Open wide the door.....
Let Calfie do the chore!
Ere I depart!
To Hanscam's store
Milk cans by the score
Nucoa—three or four
'Nough to break Frank's heart!
(Perhaps I should add that Frank had no objections whatsoever but since canned milk is not popular with either the children or me, I learned to milk the cow).

"It is not such a difficult matter to get along in the world if you never give up in it."

Household hint for the week: "Be lavish with milk, butter, frugal with thickening and adventurous with seasoning to produce perfect cream soups".

A day from the diary of a lookout man—

July 4—Reported in at 6 a. m. 60-mile east wind. Warm and sultry. The highest velocity that I've had since I have been stationed here—75 miles for one hour, between seven and eight p. m. last evening. At 12:45 p. m. picked up smoke west of forest boundary, back of Signal Buttes. At 1:20 p. m. picked up another smoke further north. Someone set fire for a mile along a road on north side of Rogue River. Undershot this fire about three miles. Rest of day was quiet. Humidity down to 21. All okay at 8 p. m. End of day.

Here's why Indian Summer is the best time to take your vacation this year!

From now until school starts again is the peak of the summer travel season. Most of our trains are heavily loaded, and reservations at your favorite resort are frequently difficult to get.

But if you can arrange to take your vacation after Labor Day in September or in October or November, chances are you'll be able to get exactly the accommodations you want—not only on the train, but at your destination as well.

In California, weather is at its best in the fall. San Francisco, for example, has its nicest weather in September and October. The same is true in Southern California.

So we suggest that in planning your well-earned Victory Vacation this year, it might be well to aim at the Indian Summer off-season. You'll be less crowded and have lots more fun.

However, if you have to take your vacation sooner, we'll do everything we can to help you. Just let us know as far in advance as possible.
