

Sense And Some NONSENSE -

By Devey

While interest in the forthcoming election doesn't manifest itself in this area, this election still holds something which should interest all voters of this area. For instance there are several referendums to be voted, and these are important in the future of the state.

The Fish bill means much to Oregon, if that sport will be maintained for future generations. Careful study must be made on the angles which commercial fisheries are making, to cloud the issue in the state.

The Basic School bill is another which is important in the future of Oregon schools. Under provisions of this new bill, funds derived from taxes will not be added to personal and real property, but will come from other sources.

The alleged Townsend-support- ed old age pension bill is one to fool the average voter. Opposition to this bill comes mostly from Grange, agriculture and all groups of organized labor.

There is no question about aid to the aged of this state, or any state, but cloaked under this bill is a tax which will hurt every form of business in the state, thus tending to drive away all new businesses which would settle anywhere in this state.

Of vital interest to this county is the candidacy of Dr. A. O. Schmitt, for county coroner. To elect Dr. Schmitt, his name must be written in, with an "x" placed in front of the name, to make the ballot legal.

Hugh C. Gearin, for district attorney is of particular interest to the area. Mr. Gearin will do his best to conduct that office in a manner becoming of a district attorney.

More of the football favorites fell Saturday in games which held wide interest. University of Oregon, favorite to win over the "hot-and-cold" Washington State eleven, could do no better than come out with a 0-0 tie. U. C. L. A. came out as predicted, victors over California, although the Cal.

Bears did make it interesting.

U. S. C. made University of Washington look like an ordinary team, Saturday in her defeat of the Huskies which were picked before the season to be "the team to beat." Idaho, touted early to be a "dark horse," was easy victims to San Jose State, an ordinary team.

Saturday, next sees University of California at Seattle, battling the Huskies; Oregon at Moscow; Oregon State College at Pullman to do battle with Washington State; U. S. C. pitted against Stanford at Palo Alto; Santa Clara pitted again U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles and Utah State at Missoula, playing the Montana Grizzlies who won over their old rivals, last Saturday, Montana State.

With possible exception of Utah state and Santa Clara, the visiting teams have been picked to come away with wins.

Going into the unpredictable outcomes of football games, Fritz Crisler, coach at Michigan, writing in the American Legion Magazine, tells the "why" of different victories—to the underdogs. He explained it as "tension"

According to Crisler, there is possibility of the favored team in a game being "jittery" while the opponents, out to "wreck everything," are "keyed" to the right tension to do that very thing. A good example of this so-called tension was seen in the recent world series games.

Boston, whom everyone figured a cinch, fell down miserably in the games which counted all because tension was terrible. On the other hand, the Cards, who had nothing to lose because "they did not have a chance," went ahead on the theory that they were shooting for the moon. The Cards were natural at all times—they had just the right amount of tension to carry them through.

Mental attitudes are important in anything the human race attempts. Psychology teaches that determination will carry the human to lofty heights, if determination is strong enough.

CRESCENT CITY — Board of directors of the Del Norte County hospital district after officially re-naming the former Knapp hospital the Del Norte Hospital, have again changed the name and the institution will now be called "Seaside Hospital."

The decision to re-name the hospital came about, due to several circumstances, it is said. First of which was the confusion it would cause those addressing mail to the hospital and the difficulty of the local post office in making deliveries.

After deliberation, the board of directors decided upon the new name as it was learned that the late George O. Knapp, founder of the hospital, had planned to some day adopt that name for the institution.

COQUILLE — Indicted by the grand jury in session this week were Norman Ream, Eugene, on a charge of driving while under influence of intoxicating liquor, and William E. Sargent, Coos Bay, on a larceny charge.

Ream will be arraigned before District Attorney Ben Flaxel on Monday. Sargent was arraigned following the grand jury hearing and pleaded guilty and was given 120 days in the county jail but was put on a year's parole.

Russell L. Stanton, Coos Bay, pleaded guilty on Tuesday to obtaining money by false pretenses on a bad check charge and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Bennie Shrader, of Bunker Hill, plead guilty to a larceny charge and was sentenced to 90 days in jail with an immediate parole.

Not true bills were returned for L. W. Lund, Lola Lee Chocktoo, Raymond Crouch, Thomas Brisbane and Marvin D. Mc-Commons.
