Smith River Man Killed In Mill Accident, Friday

Funeral Services Were Held at North Bend, Wednesday P. M.

SMITH RIVER — Word was spread here by relatives and friends, telling of the sudden death of a Goodlin, 63, who was instantly killed last Friday afternoon while working in a lumber mill at North Bend, Ore.
Relative of Smith River, Mr. Goodlin was born Feb. 26, 1883, spent his younger life here. He attended the local schools, and a number of years followed him, before moving to North Bend where he has lived for 30 years.
Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Goodlin, three brothers, John of Smith River; John of Fort and Dave of Escalon, Calif; several nieces and nephews.
Funeral services were held at North Bend, Wednesday afternoon.

Four Hits Coming to Pine Cone Soon

With a double-header Friday and Saturday evenings, the Pine Cone Theatre again is bringing four shows to the area, the coming attractions being:
"The Loder stars in the tense thriller-packed suspense, "The House of Death," billed the same evening with "Home on the Range," in which Monty Hale and Nolan star. This is a western in gorgeous outdoor color.
"Victimized sailor, on leave, sympathetic dance-hall girl, and a driver with a brooding secret make up the suspense and diet in "Deadline at Dawn," which Susan Hayward, Paul Lukas and Bill Williams, RKO's sensation, care leads.
"Bells of St. Mary's", starring unforgettable Ingrid Bergman and Bing Crosby, will be shown three days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with a matinee on Tuesday afternoon. This show, say critics, has no peer.
"New hits, billed for the future, include: "Night in Casablanca," "Band in Paris," "Kid From Brooklyn," "Without Reservation," "Kenney," "Heartbeat," "Glorious," "Bachelor's Daughter," "Crack Up," "Nocturne," "My Luck," "The Stranger," and "Man's Territory."

Henry Horst Will Open A Watchmaking Shop

Henry Horst, disabled veteran of World War I, will open up his watch-making shop, next Tuesday, Nov. 19, in the room adjacent to the Nook Cafe, which is being made ready for occupancy.

Licensed in Oregon by examination, Mr. Horst was trained by the veterans administration just after the last world war. He has resided in the San Francisco area most of the time since, where he has operated watch repair shops.

Former Resident Dies In California

Funeral services, it was learned here, Tuesday, were held, Nov. 6, for Alfred Bernard Ashley, now of Walnut Creek, Calif. He passed away Nov. 2, near that place, where he had lived for some time.

Former resident of this area, he was born, April 5, 1886 on Prince Edward Island. Surviving are: his widow, Mrs. Hazel Ashley, of the home at Walnut Creek, Miss Ethel of San Leandro, Calif., Mrs. Dora Drake of Days Creek, Ore., and Pfc. Milton Ashley of the U. S. Army in Italy, and Arthur Ashley of Brookings, and two grandchildren.

West Coast Bulb Co-op Will Meet This Evening

Members of West Coast Bulb Growers, co-op, have set a meeting for 8:00 o'clock this evening at the Grange hall, according to R. V. Guerrettaz, local chairman.

All local bulb growers, even if member or not, are invited to listen in on the meeting.

Two Jersey Herds Were Re-Classified

LANGLOIS — Outstanding animals have been registered Jersey herds of Sweet & Nash of Sixes, and Phillip Cope & Son, of this place, and have just been re-classified by H. P. Ewalt, assistant extension dairyman, OSC, Corvallis.

In the Cope herd seven animals were presented for re-classification, the results being two very good, three good plus, two good.

In the Sweet & Nash herd 12 were classified very good, 14 good plus, and two classified good.

Both of these herds have been on official tests and have broken both state and national records. It is the contention that both types and production can be combined.

Fire Department Puts Out Butane Fire Monday

A leaky butane tank, Monday evening, caught fire at the Young building (formerly owned by Leo Spangler) necessitating services of the local fire department.

Prompt action extinguished the blaze with no damage to anything.

Legion Of Merit Awarded Captain Posthumously

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hendry, Parents, Given Medal At Corvallis

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hendry returned last week from Corvallis where they had been called, to receive a "Legion of Merit," awarded posthumously to their son, Captain Roderick K. Hendry, who was lost while aboard a ship en route from the Philippines to the Japanese homeland, late in 1944.

Presented by the military department, citation which accompanied the award read:

"Captain Roderick K. Hendry, as battalion instructor, First Battalion, 21st Field Artillery Regiment, Philippine army, rendered exceptionally meritorious service from December, 1941, to April, during the Luzon and Bataan campaigns on the Philippine Islands.

"Although the battalion had been hastily organized and was largely untrained, and inexperienced, it performed in battle in an outstanding manner, due considerably to the unusual ability, leadership and devotion to duty exhibited by Captain Hendry."

Born at Newport, Captain Hendry attended schools at that place and later at Oregon State College, where he was graduated in 1930.

In August of 1940 he was ordered to Fort Ord, Calif., thence to Fort Sill, Okla., for advanced military training, to return to Fort Ord, to be sent to the Philippines in October, 1940.

He was captured at the fall of Bataan and was held prisoner by the Japs at Cabanatuan, and Bilbidid prison, from where he and others were removed in Oct. 1944 for Japan. The ship he was aboard was bombed while en route.

In addition to the legion of merit, he was also awarded the purple heart, received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry.

Death Is Horrible If Result of Atomic Bomb

"Hiroshima," story of several survivors of the atomic bombing of that city, in the heart of Japan's industrial district, has reached subscribers of the Book of the Month club in this area.

While the atomic bomb did hasten the end of the Jap resistance, the use of bomb, as related in this book, is almost defies powers of human imagination.

Destruction, especially to human beings, is terrific. It will be worth everyone's time to read this book, accounts told by survivors.

The regular meeting of the Satellite club will be held, at 7:45 p. m., Nov. 19, at the home of Mrs. Agda Bickner.

Article Places Blame For Low Bud Count

E. P. Breakey, of State College of Washington experiment station, whose article on culture of Croft lilies appeared earlier this year, and again last week, is represented again through Pilot columns in another article.

Blame for the poor showing of Croft lilies, reputed in the east, and reasons why, are exposed in this article, which appears on page six of this issue.

Last Rites, Sunday, For F. J. Hamilton

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, at the Community church for Frank J. Hamilton, who died last Thursday. Rec. C. E. Dunham, pastor of the church officiated. Interment was at the local cemetery, with Sidney Croft Lodge, A. F. & A. M. hold graveside services.

Born Jan. 10, 1874, at Woodbury, Texas, Mr. Hamilton was 72 years, 9 months and 27 days at time of his death. He was a member of the Methodist church, and the Masonic Lodge. He had been a resident of Brookings for a number of years.

Surviving, besides his widow, Nancy, are: Frank of Talent, Ore., Cecil and Bernis of Brookings, Mrs. Pauline Smith of Benecia, Calif., and Paul of Brookings. Also surviving is a brother, Ernest of Hennereti, Okla., and six grandchildren.

Next C. of C. Meeting Postponed One Week

Because Thanksgiving will be the next day, and perhaps many members have plans which will be in conflict, the November meeting of the Brookings-Harbor chamber of commerce will be postponed one week, or until Wednesday evening, Dec. 4, W. H. Hibbard, secretary, announced Tuesday afternoon.

At present, plans are that the meeting will be held at the Nook Cafe. However, announcements will be made beforehand.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting.

Garden Club Luncheon Cancelled For Tonight

The dinner, scheduled for Thursday evening (tonight) at the Nook Cafe, honoring Mrs. William Wilhelm, has been cancelled, due to previous engagements of Mrs. Wilhelm, which just came to light at the very last moment. Please disregard the announcement in "Coming Events," elsewhere in this issue of the Pilot.

A group of about 20 members of Easter Star motored to Gold Beach last Thursday evening to attend the initiation of Violet Cleveland and Alice Perkins into the order. The refreshments were served by the Brookings ladies.

Last Rites Today For Andrew P. Waldien, Pioneer

Came To This Area In 1925 to Settle On Upper Chetco Ranch

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today, at the Community Baptist church, for the late Andrew Person Waldien, who died late Monday at his home near Harbor. Rev. C. E. Dunham will officiate.

Andrew Person Waldien was born in Sweden, Dec. 14, 1873, and spent a number of years in his early manhood, working for his father in Southern Sweden.

Leaving his native country in 1896, he first settled in Wheaton, Minn., where farmed for a number of years. Later he moved to St. Paul where he learned and became an expert painter and interior decorator.

He was married in 1900 to Anna Sandstrom at Minneapolis, and to this union were born six children.

In 1905 he moved his family to California where, for 20 years, he followed his trade. In 1925 he again felt the urge to return to ranch work, with result he moved his family to Long Ridge ranch, 20 miles up the Chetco River where he spent 12 years.

In 1937 he moved to Harbor, to spend the remainder of his life.

Surviving, besides his widow, are three sons, Curt, Frank and Charles Waldien.

Rebekas Initiate Three, Tuesday

The first November meeting of Topaz lodge was held Tuesday evening at the Odd Fellows hall with about 40 members present. Faye Sunderland, Marie Redfield and Frances Reekman were initiated into the order, which was followed with the drill team putting on its impressive work.

It was decided to hold a bazaar at the hall, December 7, to open at 7 p. m. with Rita Tierce being appointed chairman of the committee. Part of the money to be raised at the bazaar is to be sent to the building fund of the Odd Fellows home at Portland.

A Rebekah pin was presented to Ethel Frazier in appreciation of the many services to the local lodge.

Refreshments, served by May Lytle and Bertha Whirry, consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee, were enjoyed at the close of the evening.

Name Omitted On List

In compiling the list of donors toward the recent high school carnival, published last week, the name of Smith's Department Store was inadvertently omitted, for which apologies are offered.
