LEFT FOR EAST COAST

Joe Stankovitch left Wednesday for the Atlantic coast to promote interests in the western cranberry picker, developed by the Stankovitch Bros. He was accompanied by R. J. Hillstrom, of Coos Bay, who has acquired a patent interest on the picker.

To be gone a month, they expect to go north to Washington State College to appear, Jan. 13, and leave for Wisconsin, and on east. They will be at Camden, N. J., Jan. 25 and at Plymouth, Mass., Jan. 28, from where they will go to Washington, D. C. The trip is being made by air.

TO SPONSOR TALENT SHOW

Floras Willow Club will sponsor a Talent Hour at Langlois high school gym on the evening of February 8, to benefit the athletic club.

The various clubs, lodges and schools, as well as individuals of the county, and nearby vicinities are invited to compete. Prizes of $10 for first; $5 for second and $3 for third will be given adults. Childrens prizes will be $5, $3 and $1. Entrants are asked to contact Kenneth C. Thompson at Langlois.

FLORAS CLUB MET

Floras Willow Club met last Thursday with 14 present, when pot luck dinner was served at noon. The day was spent making bazaar articles, to be held in April. Mrs. Margaret Hofsess was a guest, and accepted invitation to become a member. It was decided to hold an auction the last meeting of each month, selling vegetables, articles, and such, donated by members. Mrs. Jean Strain will be auctioneer. Next meeting of the club will be Jan. 23 and everyone is urged to come and join in the club activities.
