

Hair Stylist Visits Zada's Shop, Sun.

The New York hair stylist, Ellen Domsella, and her assistant, Mr. Hofstetter, were visitors in Brookings at the Temporal Hotel over the weekend, to give Miss Zada McIndoe, owner of Zada's Beauty Shoppe, instruction in the Esko Cold Wave hair cutting and styling. Miss Anna Rayson acted as model.

Miss Domsella demonstrated the new sculptural curls which give the soft natural waves so popular with high school and college girls. For the "stylish" beauty of white hair, Miss Domsella suggested a mode with wide shadow waves and sculptured curls.

Miss Domsella stressed the importance of properly shampooing the hair. "Never use bar soap for the hair," she said, "but use a hair shampoo which does not wash away, but flakes off when dry. Many people confuse these flakes with dandruff," she warned.

She said that the "new" hair styles are far advanced in hair styling right along with the New Yorkers. You are using the same "flat top" with high side curls, the new hair style in the city of New York.

4-H Cooking Club Names Officers

Officers of the 4-H club cooking group of Brookings, under leadership of Mrs. Glenn Simpson, have started classes. The girls have named officers:

President: Faye Reus.
 Vice President: Jean Gott.
 Secretary: Rosalee Kinton.

The girls were taught how to make a "meeting" to order and to carry through to closing. After this the class demonstrated two things to prepare, then sat there for refreshments and play games if any time remains.

Despite the rain last Saturday none were absent. A visitor was present in Laura Moffitt.
