

Sense And Some NONSENSE

By Dewey

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, people of this area will have the best opportunity, up to this time, of really advertising their own incomparable area. Really I am looking forward to telling some visitor, and likely many of them, too, the things about this community which stand out in my mind as resources.

First, in my mind will come the wonderful climate which this immediate area enjoys. I have been here just long enough to have noted quite a number of things about this area, such as the absence of wind, the absence of cold weather, and the absence of so-called hot weather.

All of you have traveled up the Oregon coast at one time or another. You have noted, too, the fact that Brookings is the only place along the coast, perhaps with exception of Bandon that to visit the beach, you must patronize some private interest or a state park. Here, we can enjoy the beach without hurting any private interest.

Don't forget to point out the possibilities here for a permanent flower business, a permanent year-round health resort, the potential lumber interest, and any number of re-manufacturing industries which are possible.

Please call attention to the fact that in the past year, more than a thousand new residents have settled here, and those who have been here longer, may reveal the growth since 1940. To the average person those figures have meaning.

Show visitors the sights of the area. Please point out the natural, untouched beauty this area offers to the camper, the vacationer, and the future resident. Point out the active chamber of commerce, the Azalea Garden Club, the Harbor Community club which has started a public library here.

Don't forget to point out the active and powerful Grange, the different lodges, the churches, the Croft Lily Growers, V. F. W. and American Legion posts. Presence of such organizations may, in a number of cases may be the deciding factor for location by a family in this area.

While just chartered, and new in the ways of Rotary, this area boasts a club which will, as the months pass, bring more recognition to the area—more than it is possible now to predict. The local club, soon to hold its charter night, hold two distinctions—the only club in an unincorporated town, and also the most westerly in the United States.

People are coming to this vicinity, Friday, Saturday and Sunday to enjoy a vacation over the Memorial day week-end. Appoint yourself as a committee of one to make that visit enjoyable. Be sure to answer all questions, regardless of the nature. While this area may have faults, and certainly it couldn't escape, the attributes in its favor far outdo those which would be adverse.

You came to this area for a logical reason. Certainly you've gained more reasons since you arrived. These, dear readers, exploit in a way you would like things exploited to you, were the case reversed. When your visitors have gone, then you will have the satisfaction that you have been a good host. Collectively, this being a good host will make this festival the best ever. It costs nothing, but the returns will be immeasurable.

I would like to take this moment to congratulate the seniors who received their diplomas last Friday. They now are in a new world—sounds funny, but think about this fact:

Heretofore they have been referred to as school children. That is not true now; heretofore, they followed a pattern cut for them, but now they must cut their own pattern; while they made a few decisions heretofore, now they must make about every decision by themselves. New world?

It is the job, now, of the seniors to establish themselves in the business or professional world. This, they will find, is not an easy task. To learn a trade, some vocational school will be of great help—for professional life, there will be no substitute for college.

Seniors, used to doing things in a leisurely manner, will find that the world now is a hard task-master. They must find out soon (and the sooner the better) that their employers must be able to realize a profit from their labors, or that their labors will not be purchased by any employer, here or elsewhere.

I once had a professor in high school that pointed out a good rule to me. I have never forgotten it, even if it were told me back in 1914: "If you don't do more than you are paid for—you can never expect to get paid for more than you do." Try that, Seniors, and you will go far.

Local News Items

Starting on Wednesday of this week, the B. & B. Cafe will observe the new summer hours of 7:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m. Mrs. Buchanan told the Pilot she was putting on two shifts, and was making dinners a specialty.

L. Z. Harbin, who underwent appendectomy at the Good Samaritan hospital, San Francisco a couple weeks ago, is expected home shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd V. Swearingen expect to leave Monday on an extended trip throughout the United States, which will take them as far east as New York City. They will create markets for hardwoods, a line which they will sell heavily in the future.

With Ronald Akers' patrol laying the trail signs, the local Boy Scout troop enjoyed its second beach meeting Monday evening. Starting at the post office this patrol laid the trail signs early in the evening. The remainder of the troop picked up the trail about 7 p. m. Next week another patrol will lay the trail and pick the site for the troop meeting. Many tests are passed through this manner of holding meetings.

Mrs. Sam Gott and Mrs. Bud Rausch were among the group which went to Eureka last Friday. Mrs. Gott went for medical attention concerning one of her ears.

For sole purpose of seeing the Azalea park at its best, two different parties from Seattle journeyed to Brookings last week, and were callers at the W. L. Crissey home. All are Seattle Garden Club members. The first party included: Mrs. Edith Hazard, Mrs. Robert Hamlin, Mrs. W. H. Harris, Mrs. Maude Sawyer, of Seattle, and Mrs. R. M. Eugene. Another party included Mrs. Herbert E. Coe, and Harry E. Coe, and Mrs. Chamberlain, all of Seattle. Mrs. Coe attended the Festival with Dr. Coe, and at the time invited her friends to her on the trip to see the

WANTED

The NEW CROPS & INDUSTRIES COMMITTEE of the Brookings-Harbor Chamber of Commerce has interested a man in building a freezing plant, and also a couple in putting in a custom cannery in the area.

We want to know how many crates of berries or other small fruits and/or vegetables will be produced for freezing or for sale, and how many folks in the area will patronize the custom cannery.

Drop us a line, or see us on the street. (signed) JIM YELTON, W. H. BOMHOFF LUTHER TISDALE, Brookings, Oregon.
