

Vet School Aid Is Limited To $35.00

SALEM—Oregon World war 2 veterans seeking state educational aid benefits will be restricted to $35 a month for each month in service, with payments limited to 36 months, George E. Sandy, state director of veterans' affairs, said Monday in outlining the recent legislative amendments to the act. The veteran also must have served at least six months in the armed forces.

Previously, three months in service entitled any Oregon veteran to $35 a month for the entire 36 months.

Also, time spent in the army specialized training program, or the navy V-12 program, will no longer count as service in the armed forces under terms of the new act, after June 30.

However, the law has been liberalized in these respects, it was explained:

1. Forty hours of school attendance per month instead of the previous 60 hours entitles the veteran to the $35 payments.

2. The veteran may now attend an approved vocational school to be eligible. Sandy said he anticipates many veterans taking advantage of the benefits to attend the new state vocational school at Klamath Falls, due to open in July.

3. Payments to the veteran will be speed up, by elimination of certain cumbersome reports previously required from the various schools.

Application can be made to the department of veterans' affairs, state library building, Salem, or 416 SW 11th Ave., Portland.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy Rice arrived home Saturday after having taken a short trip, following their marriage at Medford, May 14. Mrs. Rice is the former Mrs. Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Reide of Escalon, Calif., are houseguests at the home of Mrs. Albina Tamba this week. They are former residents of this area, having moved here in 1920. They lived in the upper Chetco country, selling their property to Bill Lane and his father.

The county grader was working at the site of the Croft Memorial last week, widening the road, and, with the state crew, widened the road, preparing the site for the dedication, which is set for June 29.

Mrs. Leo Lucas and daughter, Helen Louise, were met Saturday morning at Eureka by Leo, who flew down to pick them up. Before landing at Crescent City, they flew over this area. Helen is greatly improved in health at this time, but must return to San Francisco every two months for a medical check up. This will be required for the next two years. Larry Myers accompanied Leo to Eureka to meet his family and enjoyed his first plane trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Perkins and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson spent the week-end fishing in the Baby Foot Lake, in the upper Chetco country. They made the trip in by way of Kerby, the old Anderson ranch, and then by packing in from the end of the road. Although they caught several nice messes of Eastern Brook trout, they don't recommend the jaunt very often.
