

MRS. STAFFORD TELLS STORY

takes. Many blame us for letting the stock out but we have always felt the world is big enough for all, and has plenty for all, and it is a lot more fun living, with the community enjoying lilies with us.

So we see—our creator, our heavenly Father, ever since 1917 has been preparing a blessing there isn't room to receive for the Brookings-Harbor community. The Croft lily—most beautiful lily ever given to mankind, and the most wanted symbol of the Resurrection.

He chose to guide it to us by the way of Mr. Griffiths, Louis S. Houghton, Mr. Rasmussen, Mrs. Shindler and Mr. Croft. But Mr. Croft was permitted to have it the longest because he loved it even to the end of his life.

Today, as a period of his story, we have dedicated the memorial located by the roadside in the very field where he was caused to leave his lilies.

And we launch this "Lily Week" in gratitude and rejoicing that our country has been thus blessed with the Croft lily, not now but on lily—instead 20,000,000 bulbs and bulblets. True there are too many. That is our present problem. But there is a future. One has aptly said, "Behind the dim unknown standeth God within the shadow, keeping watch above his own."

Croft Lily Growers Held Meeting Mon.

An interesting meeting was held Monday 14th by the Croft Lily Growers Association at the Harbor Grange Hall.

Due to the tremendous success of the "Lily Blossom Time" floral parade and program July Fourth the Association voted to continue the sponsorship of this event and to place it among the leading attractions of the Pacific Coast. Already, plans are under way and are being made for next years "Lily Blossom Time" which will even exceed the beauty and pagentry of this years surprising performance. When it is remembered that this years program was arranged on comparatively short notice and was financed by the Croft Lily Growers Association for a couple of hundred dollars it can readily be seen what wonderful possibilities exist for the full development and exploitation of an event of such outstanding success. There is little doubt, that with proper handling and promotion, "Lily Blossom Time in Brookings", can be made into one of the outstanding events of the Pacific Coast, even rivalling for natural beauty, the Rose Festival of Portland and the Tournament of Roses of Pasadena, California.

A membership drive was initiated also by the Croft Lily Growers Association. The dues for the remainder of this year being reduced to the sum of six dollars.

The present membership was divided into two teams, with Geo. Funk heading one squad and Bob Chambers in charge of the other team to recruit new members. The team gaining the most members is to enjoy a banquet at the expense of the losers, so, all in all, a very spirited contest is expected and a substantial gain in membership of the Association.
