Veterans' Organizations Will Help With Burials

The Oregon National Guard and leading veterans' organizations throughout the state are standing by to assist with military honors for Oregon's returning World War dead, the Department of Veterans' Affairs learned today.

Inquiries by the veterans' department disclosed that firing squads have been formed by these organizations in local communities to be at call of next of kin who desire military rites for the burial of those now returning to their native soil.

In addition to these, the U. S. marine corps and U. S. army recruiting stations, and the Oregon military district organized reserve are prepared to render service to next of kin in the Portland area.

Families of the deceased have been notified in every case, however, that funeral arrangements will be as they desire, and they may or may not have military rites, just as they choose. Contact for further information on this should be made with a Legion or VFW post in local communities it was advised.

Firing squads ranging from four to eight men and a bugler have been formed in many communities by either the Legion or VFW.

The Oregon national guard headquarters in Salem has issued an order to its units in Portland, Astoria, Tillamook, Forest Grove, McMinnville, Salem, Eugene, Roseburg, Medford, Grants Pass, Baker, Milton-Freewater and La Grande to give full military honors when requested. National guard units being organized at Corvallis, Ashland, Klamath Falls, Coos Bay and Coquille also will be ready to assist in the near future, it was disclosed.

Local News Items

If any Harborite missed signs around their premises, they were probably over at Vincents in Brookings, at least several were found there last Saturday morning. Other than the moving of signs, little or no damage was noted in this area.

Mrs. H. J. Weigel returned home the latter part of the week after spending a few weeks near Portland with her daughter and family. The Weigels are moving this week to the Chapman place on the highway south of Harbor which they have purchased, and are renting their present home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edna Messer has replaced her mother, Mrs. Geo. Rush as cashier in the local light office. She is in the office from 8 to 5 on week days until the tenth of the month, and the rest of the month, the office is open from 3 to 5 in the afternoon.

Mrs. Virginia Murphy returned last week from a several weeks trip which took her through several western states.

Mrs. Clifford Gilbert and Mrs. Frances Prescott of Grants Pass were overnight visitors at the home of Mrs. Gilbert's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hanscam. The two women made the trip especially to attend the institution ceremonies of the local Eastern Star Lodge Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Childers are driving around in a brand new blue Cheverolet pick-up of which they took delivery last week.

"HALL-MARK" Christmas Cards

By Ed and Mendy

Howdy, Folks: Another week, but not another dollar, as we used to say. It's just another pain just as Dewey had, Monday. Said he had strep poisoning, but we'll bet it was one of those printers' diseases, such as type lice.

We had those species demonstrated to us once, but in Dewey's shop, he always handed us a hot "slug," which is as bad as lice in our way of thinking. Dewey wanted a day off, so he feigned sickness, just like Val is doing, and any guy who might want to have his wife baby him.

Fishing is good for some guys, but we don't have the luck of the Irish. We have to pay for everything we get—and sometimes it comes expensive.

Not so with our gas and air—it's the cheapest thing you can buy, and we'd like nothing better than to prove this statement.

"Speed Pads" are swell for that window cleaning job. See 'em, use 'em and you'll always buy 'em—and we sell 'em.
